The President's Report

To the Board of Trustees:

I am pleased to submit herewith my fifth annual report as president of Bridgewater College. The session of 1953-54 was marked by an increase in enrollment, an expansion in material facilities, a growing interest in the college on the part of our constituency, an increase in financial assets, and a wholesome morale among students and faculty.

The Enrollment

The total enrollment was 432 of which 414 were full-time students. This is an increase of 12% over the previous session. There were 275 men and 157 women. The recruiting program was greatly improved through the untiring efforts of Edgar F. Wilkerson, Admissions Counselor, with a resulting increase in enrollment for the 1954-55 session, even though there were no regular graduating classes in Rockingham and Henry counties from which we draw a rather large number of students each year. High school students were invited as guests to a football game in November, and High School Day was observed in connection with May Day. Prospective students visited the campus over many week-ends as guests of the college. The college was represented at 27 College Days and 127 high schools were visited by our Admissions Counselor. In addition, many calls were made in the homes of prospective students. A series of booklets describing the college along with letters from the president were sent to thousands of high school seniors at intervals during the session. We feel that this program was highly successful. A distribution of the enrollment by church districts is listed below.

The Faculty

A number of changes were made in the faculty for 1953-54. Frances Silliman was granted a leave of absence to continue graduate work at the University of North Carolina. James E. Irvine was secured to fill this vacancy. John W. Basta resigned to become principal of an elementary school in Richmond. Virginia Andes became instructor in Spanish. Stella G. Reynolds, who had been an instructor in home economics and dietitian for three years resigned to become dietitian at Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Louise G. Showalter was appointed dietitian, and Mary S. Glick assisted in the home economics department. Robert L. Hueston was secured to take the place of W. H. Anderson in commerce, and Paul H. Gunsten became coach of football and instructor in physical education to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Edward T. Chandler. David Kesler served as director of the band and orchestra and taught the wind instruments in the place of Carl J. Shultz. Kathryn Widdowson succeeded Margaret Flory as Dean of Women and Faith Sanger filled the vacancy created by Edna J. Vought's resignation, after a period of twelve years with the college. Leon W. Rhodes became manager of the College Stores to succeed Paul Priddy.

Dr. Charles C. Wright retired at the close of the session after serving the college in many capacities since 1915. During this period, Dr. Wright served as treasurer of the college, dean of the college, acting president for one session, and professor of economics. He was an outstanding teacher, a good administrator, and a faithful and loyal servant of the institution.

The Trustees

The Board of Trustees, the College, and the alumni feel very keenly the loss of Mrs. Virginia Garber Strickler who died on August 6, 1953. Mrs. Strickler was a great friend of Bridgewater College and had made possible during her lifetime the auditorium and library building on the campus, known as Cole Hall. Her loyalty and devotion to the college through the years as a friend and trustee will long be remembered and cherished by all those who knew her.

Ferne R. Hoover '25 was elected to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Strickler on the Board. Other changes were the election of O. R. Hersch to represent the Eastern District of Virginia, Jacob F. Replogle to fill the unexpired term of Samuel A. Harley, who moved from the Southeastern Region, H. O. Poling to represent the Second District of West Virginia, and S. D. Glick, a trustee at large. I. C. Senger was elected president of the Board to succeed Charles W. Wampler who resigned after six years as chairman of the Board.

Religious Activities

The various religious organizations were active during the session both on the campus and in deputation work among the churches. A total of seventy-nine programs was given in churches of our region by the following groups: the Glee Club, the Student Christian Movement, the Fellowship of Reconciliation, the Clericus Chorus, and the Girls Quintet. Several of the ministerial students held part-time pastorates in the surrounding counties. Many pulpits were filled by members of the faculty on College Day and upon other occasions. A student CBYF was organized late in the spring which promises to become a very active organization on the campus. The students of other denominations were affiliated with their youth groups both in Bridgewater and in Harrisonburg. Religious Emphasis Week was observed in November with Harry K. Zeller as the guest minister. The Youth Round Table of the Southeastern Region was held in April. This brought together approximately six hundred Brethren youth from the region for a two day conference. The Spiritual Life Institute held in February was a real experience for all in attendance. Dr. Elmer Homrighausen, H. Stover Kulp, and Charles E. Zunkel were among the guest ministers of the institute.

Lectures and Entertainment

A rather rich program of lectures, musicals, and entertainment was available in the past session. Dr. Govindji K. Satvedi, of India, delivered an address in chapel early in the year. Dr. John Wong-Quincey, of China, spent two days on the campus, and Mr. Dwight Horner of the State Department, and Dr. William Shanklin, a professor in American University, at Beirut, were also guests of the college for two days each. Kathryn and Paul Schwartz, pianists, were at the college for two days giving their services to the music department, George Markey a famous organist presented a recital in Cole Hall, and the Barter Theatre made two appearances during the year. The student organizations rendered quite acceptable programs of entertainment in the field of drama and music.

Commencement

Rev. Harry K. Zeller, of McPherson, Kansas, delivered the commencement address on May 31 at which time sixty graduates received degrees. Ten degrees were conferred in August. Honorary degrees were conferred upon William M. Shanklin, and Harry K. Zeller, Jr. Alumni Day was held on Saturday, May 29, The directors of the Alumni Association were in a business session on that day at which time Earl D. Flory was elected president of the Association for the current year. The Alumni award to the "Alumnus of the Year" was made to Louis Glen Locke, professor of English in Mary Baldwin College.

Buildings and Improvements

Science Hall came into use during the summer of 1953. This building answers a real need, and it was used to its full capacity during its first regular session. This additional space for classes and laboratories made possible more adequate facilities in Founders Hall for the administrative staff and faculty members, and also for a well equipped snackshop and bookstore in the basement of Memorial Hall, which was formerly occupied by the chemistry laboratory. The building formerly occupied by the snack shop was made available to the local public school for the overflow in the first and second grades.

Gifts

Perhaps the most significant gift of the year was made by Reuel B. Pritchett, of White Pine, Tennessee, in presenting his valuable collection of rare books and many articles of antiquity which he had acquired over a period of fifty years. A large room in Science Hall was set aside for this collection, which is known as the Reuel B. Pritchett Museum. A banquet was held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Pritchett on May 29, at which time he presented officially this museum to Bridgewater College. Other gifts to the college in the amount of $87,660 were received through the Development Program. An itemized statement of this giving is published in this bulletin.

Conclusion

As I review in retrospect the past five years, and then the thirty years and more prior to that in which I have known Bridgewater College intimately, I can see the steady but sure growth of this institution. There have been dark days, of course, but the faith and devotion of those who have served before me make me realize that here at Bridgewater is an institution founded for a high and noble purpose and that purpose has not wavered throughout the seventy-four years of its existence. We now come to the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Bridgewater College and this anniversary will be observed throughout the session of 1954-55. Plans were laid for this program early in 1954 and they will culminate with commencement on June 6, 1955. I believe that the college has a great future before her for serving the Church of the Brethren in the Southeastern Region as well as around the world, and that she has also a definite place to fill in the education of young men and women of all faiths, creeds, and races. In this thought we go forward in our work to build here a greater Bridgewater College for the generations yet to come. My faith in Bridgewater is strengthened by the devotion of our faculty, our administration officers, and the faithful men and women of our Board of Trustees. We pray for strength and courage and wisdom to carry on the work of those who seventy-five years ago founded a college "for all those who seek knowledge regardless of sect or creed." And "They Builted Better Than They Knew".

Respectfully submitted,

Warren D. Bowman
President
